Text exchange with ChatGPT: KA (Ken Aptekar): Just so you know, I'm worried about the perils of AI. But I want to make an illuminated manuscript about it. So what do you think would be a good angle?

(in Arabic): Artificial Intelligence

GPT: Suggest that the true path lies in using technology as a tool to enhance human abilities, rather than replace them entirely. The manuscript's tone should be both contemplative and cautionary, inviting viewers to ponder the role of AI in their lives while appreciating the intricate beauty of the illuminated manuscript. Remember, this is just a conceptual framework to inspire your illuminated manuscript. Feel free to adjust and embellish the details to align with your artistic vision and the specific message you wish to convey.

(in Arabic): The Real Thing

KA (Ken Aptekar): Yeah, sure.

Cellphone video and text: “I want to touch the world” —George Floyd, 1992, Jack Yates High School, Houston, Texas, and BLM

George Floyd was a star high school football quarterback (#88) in Houston, Texas. After his murder a buddy of his from high school was interviewed. He told the reporter that he asked George back then what he wanted to do when he grew up. The text on the scroll is what he told his buddy, scrolling over a sequence of cellphone video stills of Floyd catching the ball and leaping to the ground over the goal line to make a spectacular touchdown.

RIP Saint Fiacre?? I don’t think so. Famous for your herb garden cures, you refused to treat women after one called you an evil sorcerer.

Some saint.... #theabortionherbgarden #triggerplanting #maureenconnor

(Inv. No. KA10376)

Text: HB Al-Khidr! It's your what? Who's counting?? Consider the alternative!! Whaddya expect after 70. Plus Covid-no-Delta, cancer scares, suicides close to home, lunatic shooters, killer fires and floods. DEATH everywhere you look. TOO BAD for Alex-not-so-Great up on the hill. HA! Couldn't find the Fountain of Youth. You get last laugh, Al. Show me the ZAMZAM!

[Facebook re-post] New York Review of Books article about Stanley

Miller, the son of Jewish Latvian immigrants. In 1952 Miller ran an experiment attempting to replicate the conditions on Earth around 4 billion years ago, when life is thought to have begun. His work revolutionized our understanding of the origins of life on our planet. The Hebrew letters, which contain the citation from this NYRB article, spell out the word "chaim," ("life").

Cellphone text exchange between a Russian soldier in Ukraine and his mother, moments before his death

<https://www.independent.co.uk/news/world/europe/russia-soldiermessageskilled-ukraine-b2025194.html>

(Mother:) Lyoesh, why are you not answering for so long, is it still true your unit is at exercises?

(Son:) Mama, I am no longer in the Crimea or at the exercises.

(Mother:) Then where??? Papa is asking if we can send you a parcel.

(Son:) No parcel for me right now, mom. Instead I want to hang myself.

(Mother:) Why would you say a thing like this? What happened?

(Son:) Mom, I am in Ukraine. A real war takes place here. I am scared, we are fucking everyone up, even civilians. Everyone indiscriminately. We were told they would welcome us with open arms, but they throw themselves under our armed vehicles, not letting us pass through. They call us fascists. Mama, I feel awful.

Text in Russian: Леш, ты как почему так долго не отвечаешь, вы точно на учениях?

12:23

Мама, я уже не в Крыму, не на Учениях

14:16 √√

А где??? Папа спрашивает можно ли тебе посылку отправить 14:33

Да какую посылку мам. Я сейчас только вздернутся хочу 14:38 √√

Что ты говоришь такое? Что случилось?

14:37

Мам, я на Украине. Тут настоящая война.

Мне страшно, мы херачим по всем подряд, даже по мирным. По всем подряд. Нам сказали что они нас будут приветствовать а они кидаются под нашу технику не дают проехать. Называют нас фашистами. Мама мне очень тяжело. 14:50 √√

Cellphone text exchange between me and my father, Milt Apteckar. (diptych)

Ken: [in three separate text message boxes]
 After you died, Dad, I got the Steinway. Was it 1949 that you and Mom gave it to each other for a wedding present. Can you believe I shipped it from Detroit to Paris. My studio there was the only place big enough. Later when I decided to build a studio in the house in Burgundy I sold the one in Paris. Everything in it including the piano went to Gauthier Moving and Storage while the new studio was getting built. Remember when I used to call you on Skype from Paris, the computer by your desk would pick up automatically. Sometimes I could hear you in the other room practicing Bach Two-Part Inventions, same ones I practiced on that Steinway when I was 12. Was your playing the piano then bringing Mom back to life? I sat silently until you stopped before calling out Dad come on over I'm on the computer.

After a year the studio and a special room for the piano are finished. The day before delivery the movers call to confirm, adding oh yeah, there was some damage to one of the piano's legs. Nothing about months of water leaks in their storage unit. The next day I discover that our piano was totally destroyed.

Milt: [in one text message box]
 How terrible, so upsetting. But you managed without me for 14 years now right? You'll breathe all the life of our Steinway into the new piano I know you'll find. I'll be listening in.
